Specification

The specification is objected to as failing to provide proper antecedent basis for the claimed subject matter. See 37 CFR 1.75(d)(1) and MPEP § 608.01(o). Correction of the following is required: the specification does not provide basis for claim 1, lines 9-10, of depositing a thin film to form said electrode. Claim 8 cites that the thin film is composed of silicon; there is no basis in the specification for an electrode of silicon.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claims contain subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The phrase "to form said electrode" is new matter and is broader than the enabling disclosure. The specification does not provide basis for a thin film to form the electrode. Page 10, line 15- page 11, line 5 describes formation of an electrode by using LiCoO_2 powder, acetylene black and PTFE; there is no mention of a thin film of silicon (claim 8) to form the electrode. This basis in the specification for forming an electrode are necessary steps to form the electrode, but are not cited in the claims.

Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. It is unclear how the removing and depositing steps (claim 1, lines 5-10) form the electrode for a secondary battery.

Response to Amendment

The rejections over Matsubara are withdrawn since Matsubara does not disclose that a thin film on a current collector is the electrode.

The specification is objected to, and the claims are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first and second paragraphs.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 6/30/03 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Examiner acknowledges that Matsubara forms an electrode layer in a separate step; however, the instant invention also forms an electrode layer in a separate step. The specification describes forming pellets as electrodes 1,2 in combination with etched current collectors 6,7.

The arguments about the active material in Matsubara are not understood by the examiner. Matsubara discloses the etching of a current collector, as cited in the claims. The rejection over admitted prior art teaches the method of using silicon. The modified method of Matsubara has the same materials as claimed in the instant invention.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a).

Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
